

S Jones Containers Appoints Modular Expert to Boost Division

Leading container conversion, hire and sales specialist S Jones Containers has appointed Simon Willis as Business Development Manager for Modular Buildings to support its growth strategy for this division.

Simon brings three decades' worth of experience to S Jones Modular Buildings division, having started his career in the sector in 1996 in administrative sales. Since then, Simon's career in the modular sector has gone from strength to strength, and he has played a leading role across a number of areas including sales, projects, and budgets.

This varied experience within the modular sector will be invaluable as S Jones Containers continues to expand its modular buildings division, which offers a durable, cost-effective, and quick to install solution for a variety of sectors and uses from portable classrooms to welfare units or office buildings. All modular buildings from S Jones Containers are manufactured, insulated, and fitted by specialist engineers to ensure the buildings are ready to use upon delivery.

Commenting on his new role, Simon Willis said: "I am delighted to have been appointed as Business Development Manager for S Jones Modular Buildings division. I bring to the role extensive modular knowledge and a wealth of experience in project management and am eager to take projects right through to completion. I very much look forward to networking with existing and potential new clients, continuing to place S Jones Modular Buildings as the go-to for modular solutions.

"My decision to join S Jones Containers was bolstered by its reputation for offering a unique and exceptional service, rooted in its 110-year history as a family business.

As the company continues to grow, its personal way of doing business remains unchanged, and I look forward to continuing this legacy while growing the modular buildings division.”

Speaking of the appointment, Andrew Jones, Managing Director of S Jones Containers commented: “We are excited to have Simon join us at a time of consistently growing demand for our Modular Buildings service, bolstered by our reputation for excellence in project management and product quality at affordable prices. Appointing Simon to this crucial role will ensure we are able to maintain the pace of our growth in this market and uphold our reputation for outstanding customer service and industry excellence, in order to service a larger customer base.”